

2017 BHEARD Scholar
Marie-Rose Kambabazi

Country of Study:	Kenya
University:	University of Nairobi
Department:	Agriculture
Student Position:	Graduate Research Assistant—Ph.D.
Home Country:	Kigali, Rwanda
Home Institution:	University of Rwanda
Home Position:	Assistant Lecturer

Research Area: Food Science

BHEARD PROGRAM START DATE: August 2017

UNDERGRADUATE EDUCATION: Degree of Agronomist, Food Science, University of Blida, Algeria

GRADUATE EDUCATION: M.Sc. Food Science and Technology, University of Liege & Catholic University of Louvain, Belgium

RESEARCH INTERESTS: Marie-Rose is interested in Food Science because it helps her to contribute in assuring food security in her country, Rwanda. She has been teaching students for the last five years at the University of Rwanda. The BHEARD program is an opportunity for her to improve her skills and contribute to the development of Food Science and Technology. Marie-Rose believes her research will be of great interest not only for University but also for her home country as it's focus will be using local raw materials to develop food products.

PERSONAL STATEMENT: Marie-Rose intends to work hard and become a full professor through research and publications, helping to raise the standard of academic education of her university and by conducting outreach activities within her community. She will be a part of the development of Rwanda.

WHEN I AM NOT WORKING I ENJOY: When Marie-Rose is not working, she enjoys taking time in prayer and listening to gospel music. She also spends time with her family, relatives and friends.