Livingston County 4-H Leader Spotlight: Jessy Myers of Little Barn 4-H Club

We are always impressed by the amazing 4-H volunteers in Livingston County and one of these leaders that was recognized this year is Jessy Myers!

Jessy is the leader of Little Barn 4-H Club and one of two winners of the Leader Service Award for 2025. Jessy has been a volunteer for three years and founded Little Barn in January 2023. Congratulations to Our Grand Equestrian Wrangler Award Winners

This year, four of our Grand Equestrians participants were awarded the Grand Equestrian Wrangler award. This award is presented to youth who demonstrate notable growth or achievement through the Grand Equestrians Programming. This is a new award for 2025, and award winners were nominated by their out of the saddle program instructor, Kat Black, and Grand Equestrians President, Natalie Strauss.

In 2025, all four youth were the first Michigan 4-H Therapeutic Riding Program participants to compete in an Out of the Saddle show class in the state and were among the original participants in the 2023 trial run of the Out of the Saddle program. Participants exhibited at the Livingston County 4-H Horse Committee's Leaders Day Show, and Natalie, Juliana, and Emily competed in the 2025 Fowlerville Family Fair Youth Show in the Therapeutic Riding class.

From Top to Bottom:

- Juliana Campbell has shown no fear in getting her horse to do as she asks. Juliana also showed in the Fowlerville Fair this year!
- Natalie Campbell has shown she can make a decision on her own that fits her needs working with her horse. Natalie also showed in the Fowlerville Fair this year!
- Chloe Cory has shown great improvement in learning where she wants to go and how to get there with her horse.
- Emily McLellan has shown courage to keep going when things looked impossible because of the terrain / surface leaning on her horse for support helps. Emily also showed in the Fowlerville Fair this year!

We look forward to seeing all the progress our Grand Equestrian participants make in 2026!
